Welcome

Welcome to Mpyt's 8th Annual General Meeting.

MPYT - the year in review

It was a big year for MPYT as we finally saw our long-awaited - much delayed - Strategic Development Plan (2022-2025) being published.

The Business Plan now becomes the working document for all strategic planning, project delivery and business evaluation as we go forward. It will be constantly reviewed and amended as circumstances and situations change. We're delighted to launch it and so grateful for the invaluable financial support of The Foyle Foundation that allowed for the consultation, research and collective thinking that came together in the final report.

A busy year theatrically for MPYT saw us stage not one but two theatre productions: slowly finding our stage feet – and our audiences – again, after the shock and loss of the pandemic. 'Variations' by Katie Hims was our contribution to the National Theatre's annual 'Connections 2022' programme and included a trip to Aberystwyth Arts Centre for the Partner Festival where the company performed to a raucously appreciative crowd of their peers.

'Little Timmy Fell Down a Big Hole' was devised by the company and staged in Llandrindod in the Autumn.

Crucially, this production was supported by the Ashley Family Foundation as a component of 'GetOff-TheStage!', our ongoing initiative advocating for, and training and mentoring in, off-stage theatre disciplines.

This allowed the opportunity to work for the first time with some wonderful new local artists like Rob Hill (Design & Scenic Construction) and Geraint Edwards (Scenic Art) as well as Don Adamson (Lighting Design). Mention must be made – with regard to the 'Little Timmy' production, of our 1st audience 'Freakshow': on opening night we offered 'free entry' to costumed guests only. It was wholeheartedly embraced; it was truly nuts; and it was beautiful (and offered free access to some who may not otherwise have come).

A new MPYT tradition beckons?

In spring 2022 we piloted a group for Young Theatre Makers (9-13). Led by our amazing, long-term associate, Danie Croft, the project was made possible by funding from Powys County Council's 'Winter of Wellbeing' programme.

Certificate of accomplishment

This coming spring we will relaunch and expand this initiative as '50p Drama Club'. Additionally, MPYT will explore further outreach in the form of an integrated theatre group for people with additional learning needs. This project will be part of a multi-partner community collaboration.

November saw more live theatre in Llandrindod as we hosted an ex-MPYTer's Edinburgh Festival hit 'Ryan Lane Will Be There Now in a Minute'. A small group of MPYTer's worked hard on the Tech and Front of House before welcoming an audience of more than fifty for a great fun-filled night. Ryan led a terrific comedy workshop for the MPYT company session a few days later. Thanks Ryan.

As 2023 kicks off we have to say a reluctant goodbye to two wonderful Trustees: Louise Williams and Hannah Cooke, who have each worked so hard and given so much to the organisation; in Hannah's case, an organisation of which she was herself once a member. Good luck Louise and Hannah both - and thank you from the bottom of our hearts. We're still smarting from the pandemic. We lost a lot of momentum, and of profile too. But we have been energised by the addition of some brilliant new trustees and as 2023 opens up we will establish part-time staff roles for both Artistic Director and Administration Assistant. Progress!

Last, but not least, MPYT has begun the design and build of a new website (and fundraising platform) with the fabulous Nex Media. We also have a charity week at the Cefnlllys shop in Llandrindod and are in discussion with a number of prospective artists who we'd like to come and work with our young people.

Here's to renewal!

Mission Statement

What MPYT offers:

Exceptional theatre activity for Young People across a vast and remote, rural catchment: workshops, summer schools and professional masterclasses; research trips, theatre visits and social events; community productions, applied vocational training and mentoring; a learning environment outwith formal education, where participants are encouraged to take risks and learn that it's ok to fail; to ask questions and challenge conventional wisdoms.

What MPYT believes:

That participation in high-quality, ensemble theatre offers an immeasurable boost to the personal growth and health & wellbeing of a Young Person. A creative, nurturing environment encouraging Young People to express themselves openly, and setting a high artistic bar, is a powerful, transformational tool with the potential for lasting impact: enhancing communication and thinking skills; developing recognition of individual/social responsibility, and allowing Young People to better explore, question and assimilate their understanding of the world.

Multi-disciplinary:

MPYT aspires to be a microcosm of the wider profession, with off-stage disciplines integral to the whole: recognising that Young People need not be on stage to enjoy the benefits. We seek out those who may flourish in other disciplines, offering opportunities wherever they might find the greatest challenge or reward.

Artistic Quality:

MPYT is an independent theatre company with a distinct voice, aiming always to create work made by Young People that surprises, challenges and delights: that engages their peers and beyond; that considers themselves and their world; that leaves a lasting impression. MPYT aims to set a benchmark for excellence in youth and community theatre, not only in Powys but nationally and beyond.
